THE CHARGES AGAINST THEM-WITNESSES BE-FORE THE GRAND JURY-TO STRENGTHEN

THE FIRE MARSHAL'S BUREAU. The Grand Jury yesterday heard a number of witnesses against members of the infamous band of Samuel Milch, the self-confessed incenwho has been accepted as a witness for the State, told a part of his story to the jurors early in the forencon. He was followed by Shire Rosen-baum, one of the hired incendiaries, or "mechanics," who performed some of the work of setting fires in buildings. Gustave Meyer was another witness. Any number of the firebugs, now that Milch has con-fessed, are anxious to be accepted as witnesses for the State, but Assistant District-Attorney Davis, who is handling the evidence in the arson cases, has no need for more informers at present. Fire Marshal James Mitchel was before the Grand Jury to tell something about the reports which were made to him by Policeman Lenz when Lenz was detailed at the Fire Marshal's office. George H. Fearons, the attorney for the Western Union Telegraph Com-pany, was a witness and produced a number of telegrams which had been sent to Milch by George W. Holt, the adjuster who was employed by a number of the fire insurance companies.

Indictments were found by the Grand Jury against George W. Holt, Policeman Charles F. Lenz and Koppel Friedland, the three men who were caught n the net on Friday and Saturday. It is reasonably certain also that an indictment was found against Henry Cohen, Friedland's former partner, who recently fied to Europe. The three men will be called to plead to the indictments in the District-

W. Clark, foreman of the Grand Jury, handed the indictments to Judge Fitzgerald in Part I of the Court of General Sessions at 1:30 p. m. yes-terday. Holt is indicted for arson in the second degree for complicity in the incendiary fire at No. 99 Willett-st. on July 4, 1894, and the Willner fire at No. 234 East Thirty-third-st. Lenz is indicted for bribery for receiving $100 for suppressing the fact that the fire in Cohen & Friedland's factory at No. that the life in Cohen & Friedland's lactory at No.

12 White-st., on July 24, 1891, was incendiary, and also for receiving $100 for keeping back information of the character of the fire in Gordon's factory at No. 21 Walker-st. Friedland is indicted for arson in the second degree for aiding and abetting the Gordon fire. Cohen doubtless is indicted for arson in the second degree on the same charge.

Assistant District-Attorney Davis said that at a later time he would be ready to present to the Grand Jury a mass of evidence against a number of fire insurance adjusters, some of them employed by well-known companies. Mr. Davis began an investigation of the story told by Milch that he was informed of his indictment some months ago before a warrant for his arrest had been issued, and that the informa tion came from an official in the District-Attorney's Milch said that the information was se to him through Charles I. Schampain, the lawyer, at No. 238 Broadway, who was his counsel at the time. Schampain was called to the District-Attorney's office and examined yesterday afternoon. He denied that he had conveyed any such information to Milch or had received any such information from a person connected with the District-Attorney's office. The investigation was not finished.

District-Attorney Fellows will sail for Antwerp to-morrow on the steamship Friesland. He said yesterday: "The chances are that I will not stay ong on the other side. I am going more to get the benefit of the sea voyage, and I have no plans for travel." Mr. Davis will be the acting District-Attor-

The Fire Commissioners yesterday took no step to force Fire Marshal James Mitchel out of office, although there were reports that President La Grange intended to make a move in that direction. There will be a meeting of the Commissioners to arters yesterday, made this statement:

quarters yesterday, made this statement:

We have for several weeks been looking into the workings of the Fire Marshal's bureau with a view to strengthening it. The Board is of the opinion that for the safety of the public it should be strengthened. We believe that the bureau should be a detective bureau and will endeavor to make it such. In the matter of Policeman Lenz's case, and that of Frank, men who were employed in Mr. Mitchel's bureau, and who now are charged with being in collusion with firebugs, I am now trying to find just how far Mr. Mitchel was responsible for their presence. The Board is investigating to learn just what the relation of Mr. Mitchel to the previous Board was, if he had the power of appointing his subordinates, then he is responsible for the presence of the men in his bureau. It may be that the previous Boards were to blame for Lenz and Frank being in the Department.

In the afternoon it was stated by a well-informed

THRASHED BY A PRIEST.

A YOUNG SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOY FLOGGED BEFORE HIS FELLOWS-INDIGNATION IN THE PARISH.

The cowhiding of a young Sunday-school scholar named Walter Wagan by the Rev. James M. Galligan is likely to lead to further developments. The congregation of the Roman Catholic Church of the Holy Name in Ninety-sixth-st. of which Father Galligan is the head, are incensed at the proceeding, and five of them have banded together for the express purpose of bringing the case before Arch-Corrigan. The facts are indisputable. On Sunday, for a triffing dereliction, Father Galligan, before all the Sunday-school pupils of his church severely thrashed young Wagan with a cowhid whip. Seizing the boy by his coat-collar, he threw him on a bench and administered the flogging While this was going on, two of the teachers fainted and others wept. Teesie Wagan, who is also a teacher, and who ran to her brother's as sistance, was roughly pushed aside by the pries

COTTON QUOTATIONS GO DOWN.

BETTER WEATHER IN THE SOUTH GIVES THE BEARS A CHANCE TO HAMMER PRICES

The bears in cotton yesterday, on Government eports of clear weather over the cotton States generally hammered prices. Liverpool declined equivalent to 11 of our points, and spot sales there were only $,000 bales. Quotations on the New-York equivalent to 11 of our points, and spot sales there were only 8,000 bales. Quotations on the New-York Cotton Exchange opened 12 to 15 points down, and closed 12 to 15 points under Saturday. August closed at 6.74, it is felt that the market is going up and down on weather reports, and is an ideal situation for the scalages, but, not significant of the situation for the scalpers, but not significant of the future course of prices. When, as announced, the wages of 250,000 workingmen have been increased within thirty days in this country, with stocks rising steadily, and the payrolls of such immense plants as the Pennsylvania Steel Works and the Cambria Iron Works increased to unprecedented proportions, there can be little doubt of what the

A RATE WAR AMONG ICEMEN.

THE "DUTTERFLY" DEALERS SAID TO HAVE STARTED THE TROUBLE AND THE RIG COMPANIES SUFFER.

A rate war is now on among ice-dealers. The trouble, it is said, is caused by the appearance of what are called "butterfly" dealers-that is, icemen who do not do business all the year round, but merely cut in and make what they can during the sum-mer months. The peculiarity about this war is that the consumer gets little or no benefit from it. The only difference that is made is to the wholeget their ice of the big wholesale ice depots, some of which are said to sell ice at different prices to different retailers, often as low as five cents a hundredweight, and the retail dealers sell it at from thirry and forty cents to fifty cents a hundredweight, according to the demand. Charles Mulford, manager of the Washington

Market Ice Company, calls the present skirmish an opera bouffe war, because some companies are sel opera bouffe war, because some companies are selling ice at different prices at their different depots. Mr. Muiford said to a Tribune reporter last night:

"It would hardly be supposed that those who sell directly to the consumer would tell them how cheap ice really is. Last year it was E a ton, now you can buy it for $1$ a ton. The Central Ice Company, at the foot of Eighth-st., will sell ice as low as the cents a hundred pounds. The large companies have been obliged to cut prices to dealers down to the lowest notch, wherever the 'butterfly' dealers have opened depots adjacent to the larger storehouses, as in the case of the Knickerbocker and National companies. In fact, prices have been cut more than the outsiders bargained for in an effort lofteree them out. The outsiders began the war, and have already begun to lose money. The war seems likely to go on, as it is a game of freeze-out. It is a disastrous marter for the big companies."

Mr. Mulford says that this ice war began when some companies, not satisfied with cutting the lee and selling it to wholesalers, began to open depots to dispose of their harvest. To gain trade they undersold the market, and the big companies have sought to underseil them and drive them out of business. Among the outside firms that have entered the market and are selling at one-third last year's prices are John Briggs, who has a depot at Thirty-seventh-st, and the East River, and another in Brooklyn, and Close & Clifford, at Fifty-eighth-st, and North River. ng ice at different prices at their different depots.

DECIDEL AGAINST HUGH J. GRANT. POSSESSION OF CERTAIN LOUISIANA ELECTRIC LIGHT BONDS GIVEN TO RONALD T. MC-DONALD, WHO SUED THE ST. NICH-OLAS BANK RECEIVER. Justice Stover, in the Special Term of the Supreme Court, yesterday gave a decision in favor of Ronald T. McDonald, of Fort Wayne, Ind., in an action which he brought against Hugh J. Grant, as receiver of the St. Nicholas Bank, to recover possession of $66,000 of bonds of the Louisiana Electric Light Company. The receivers of the Madison Square Bank were also parties to the action. Mr. McDonald made an agreement with the Madison Square Bank in January, 1891, by which, in con-sideration of the bank discounting three promissory notes for $50,000 each, made by him for the ac-commodation of the Fort Wayne Electric Com-pany, and indorsed by the company, he deposited $500,000 of the bonds of the Louisiana Electric Light Company, a part of an Issue of $600,000 of bonds as collateral. The notes were delivered to the bank and also the bonds, and were renewed from time to

The Madison Square Bank in January, 1893, made its promissory note to the St. Nicholas Hank for $60,000, and as security turned over to the St. Nicho las Bank one of the notes in question, and also the knowledge or consent of Mr. McDonald. It was charged that the bonds had been transferred to the St. Micholas Bank in contemplation of insolvency by the Madison Square Bank for the purpose of giving a preference to the St. Nicholas Bank. Madison Square Bank had on deposit with the St. Nicholas Bank large quantities of collateral securi-ties, some of which are still the subject of litigation. When Mr. Grant took possession of the af-fairs of the St. Nicholas Bank, Mr. McDonald tenfairs of the St. Nicholas Bank, Mr. McDonaid tendered the amount with interest of the note which Mr. Grant had in his possession, and asked for the surrender of the bonds. Mr. Grant declined to surrich the bonds contending that he had the right to hold them as security for other indebtedness of the Madison Square Bank to the St. Nicholas Bank. The Madison Square Bank also insisted that it was entitled to the bonds until the indebtedness for the three notes was wiped out. Mr. Grant denied that he had any information as to the purpose for which the bonds had been deposited with the Madison Square Bank.

MRS. COSTER'S WILL PROPATED. ALL LITIGATION ENDED BY A COMPROMISE WITH THE CONTESTANTS.

Upon the application of James B. Dill, which was approved by numerous lawyers representing persons interested in the estate, Surrogate Fitzgerald has signed an order admitting to probate the will of Mrs. Cornella Frances Coster. This terminates what promised to be a long and bitter litigation over ar state estimated to be worth $500,000. Mrs. Coster executed a will appointing Frederick Seymour executed fortune directing him to hold it in trust, to pay the fortune directing him to hold it in trust, to pay the entire net proceeds to the Woodlawn Cemetery Association for the purchase of a plot of ground and the erection of a mausoleum, for the reception of the bodies of herself, her husband, John Gerard Coster, and her parents, William G. Breese and Adeline Breese.

Mrs. Coster had been declared insane in Noyember, 182, but she was restored to her rights in July, 1833. A contest over her will was at once instituted in the Surrogate's Court by her relatives, aileging that she was insane when it was executed. All further litication is now ended, as the parties have agreed and the Surrogate has decreed that the amount to be expended for the mausoleum shall be limited to $10,000. As to the rest of her fortune the Court decides that she died intestate. This remainder will go to the next of kin.

CHURCH AND SCHOOL ALTERNATE IN PRIMARY NO. 22.

THE WELSH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SERVES A DOUBLE PURPOSE-A NEW BUILDING

Several of New-York's public schools are held in pulldings which formerly were church structures or factory buildings. Primary No. 10, at No. 25 Cannon-st., of which Miss Mary J. Blair is the principal, has occupied a church edifice many years, and, with slight alteration, it has been made answer the purpose of the school fairly well. Some of the public schools also occupy houses formerly used as tenements, which in al for school purposes. Thus New-York can boast of having almost every variety of buildings turned into schoolhouses, anything being good enough in the estimation of the Tammany magnates for the

the Board of Education is the joint occupation of a building by a church and a school. This is the case of Primary No. 22, at Nos. 206 and 208 East Eleventh-st., where on certain days of the week it is agreed that the school shall occupy the building. while on other days it is stipulated that the church people shall be in undisturbed possession of the edifice. The building is the Welsh Congregational Thurch. It is a modest one-story and basement brick structure, having the main audience-room in the upper story and the Sunday-school room in the basement. By means of sliding doors their church is converted into a schoolhouse between the hours of Sa. m. and t p. m. on the five school days of the occupancy, and Primary No. 22 will be moved t. The church building being hemmed in between high bullings, has no advantage to offer for tween high bullings, has no advantage to offer for school purposes. The classrooms, especially in the basement, are poorly lighted and vontilated.

The school is small, not having over 300 pupils.
The principal is Miss Markstef B. Milton. The other teachers are Miss Elzabeth Walker, Miss Harbara M. Moore, Miss Elzabeth Walker, Miss Harbara E. Banta, Miss Esther K. Cone and Miss Nella F. Havnes. The school trustees of this ward are Highan Merfitt, Henry Allen, Henry H. Haight, P. T. Leyenlecker and Henry Krolipfelfer.

JAMES W. SMITH MAKES A PLUCKY BUT UNAVAIL-ING ATTEMPT TO RESCUE HIS BOY, WHO WAS DROWNED IN PLUM GUT.

The passenger steamer Manhasset, of the New-London and Long Island Steamboat Company, left New-London for Greenport at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in command of James W. Smith, who is morning in command of James W. Smith, who is a large owner in the company. His two young sons accompanied him. When passing Plum Gut one of the sons, nine years old, while playing with his brother, fell overhoard. His father jumped overboard after him, but owing to the heavy tide he was unable to reach him and the boy was drowned. The steamer arrived at Greenport at 11 o'clock with its flag at half-mast.

JUSTICE MARTIN AS A PURIST. Justice Bernard F. Martin, sitting in the Morrisania Police Court, yesterday morning followed the example set by Police Justice Taintor last week, and reprimanded a policeman for using the word "collared" for "arrested." Policeman McCarran, in making a charge, said: "I was in citizen's clother and watched 'em till I seen 'em trow de dice an' den I collared 'em."

"What did you say you did?" Justice Martin asked. "You collared them?"

"I said I collared 'em-er-I mean I arrested 'em. Yes, sir," McCarren stammered.

"That is better," rejoined the Justice; "collared is sians, and not to be used in a courtroom. Please be careful in future."

HIS SUCCESSOR. THE TAMMANY PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF

EDUCATION FAILS IN HIS ATTEMPT TO STAY IN OFFICE-OTHER PROBABLE CHANGES. Charles H Knox, the Tammany president of the Board of Education, had to go, and finally "went" yesterday. Mr. Knox was loath to part with the use of every means in their control to keep him in the Board, and the friends of reform became apprehensive that Knox was going to stay. were, however, unnecessarily alarmed, Mayor Strong had no thought of allowing Knox to stay in the Board. He had in an unguarded moment agreed to let Knox remain in office until June 1, the date the latter had fixed, he said, for going to Europe. The date passed and Knox's resignation was not forthcoming. The Tammany president counted too much on the Mayor's good nature. He and wept great tears in the Mayor's presence and had begged that he might "not be humiliated" like the other Tammany men and put out of the Board. Knox thought that the Mayor would allow July 1 to come and go without referring again to his deto come and go without referring again to his de-eire for Knox's resignation. In other words, Knox undertook, as the boys say, to "jo.ly" the Mayor. But he found out finally that the Mayor was not made of the kind of stuff which "jollying" affects. Colonel Strong yesterday accepted Mr. Knox's "resignation" as Commissioner of Public Schools and will appoint William J. Van Arsiale in his place.

and will appoint William J. Van Arsdale in his place.

Mr. Van Arsdale, like Mr. Knox, is a Democrat and has been a member of the Tammany Hail organization of the IXth Assembly District, but he was never charged with prostituting his official position to Tammany's uses. Mr. Van Arsdale was a School Commissioner until two months ago, when a School Commissioner until two months ago, when the Mayor removed him under a misapprehension and said at the time that he would reappoint him. Mr. Van Arsdale is a lawyer and is in charge of the real ectate department of the New-York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company.

Mr. Knox's exodus will make it necessary for the School Board to elect a new president, which will probably be done at the next regular meeting of the School Commissioners. It was understood yesterday that the Mayor will designate successors for Commissioners Joseph A. Goulden, R. Duncan Harris and Emile Bennevith this week. They are all Tammany men.

Since the death of A. J. B. Miller, a bookkeeper in the Public Administrator's office, on a salary of $1.000 a year, it has been discovered that he was a defaulter. The facility with which Miller covmethods in the office of the Public Administrator, which was made an independent bureau by a stat-ute passed this year. The Controller, the Corporation Counsel and the Surrogates are making an examination of the affairs of the Public Administrator. The Commissioners of Accounts are also looking into the matter.

His system of embezzlement should have been discovered years ago. One of his duties was to make the bank deposits, and when he did so, if he was to deposit $150, for instance, he would turn into the bank only $60, and then on his way back to the Administrator's office would place the figure 'I' before the '50,' thus making the account correct, After the chief clerk had examined the bank book, he would erase the figure 'I' he had inserted.

Since Mr. Miller's death, two widows have turned up as claimants for his property, and it has been discovered that he was a resident of Brooklyn, isstead of New-York, as the payrolis showed. His real name was Bachmuller. Public Administrator Hoes has been appointed administrator of his property, and says there is enough to cover the defaications.

The visitors were all from Brooklyn, and the object of their visit was to urge the establishment of a cavairy troop in Brooklyn. When this question was first agitated The Tribune said that the Adjutant-General was opposed to the movement at the present time because the legal quota was so nearly full and because there was a lack of funds. General McAlpin told his visitors practically the same, and advised them to keep their men together until fail, when something may be done in that direction. The Brooklyn people will probably make another visit to camp on Thursday, and lay their claim before the Commander-in-Chief, but it is probable that Governor Morton will not give them any more encouragement than they received from the Adjutant-General. Among General McAlpin's visitors at camp on
